DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Patrick Bever on 11-15-12.

The application has been amended as follows:

Please enter the following paragraph as the Abstract for the Application:

-- A data storage device for use as a portable card, magnetically encodeable card, magnetic credit card or the like is shown. The data storage device includes a substrate having at least one surface. A high density, magnetically coercive material layer is disposed on or is deposited on the substrate for storing magnetic signals. The magnetically coercive material may have an axis of magnetization that is oriented in a predetermined direction relative to the at least one surface of the substrate. A layer of non-magnetically material is disposed on the substrate for defining an exchange break layer. A relatively hard, abradeable protective coating is formed on said magnetic material layer and is selected to have a thickness between a maximum thickness which would materially attenuate magnetic signals passing between the magnetic material layer and a transducer and a minimum thickness enabling said protective coating to be abraded by usage in an ambient natural atmosphere operating environment for removing therefrom a known quantity of the protective coating. The protective coating may comprise one, two or more layers of materials.--

Allowable Subject Matter

- 1. Claims 1, 4-10, 16-17, 19, 21-30, and 47-50 are allowed.
- 2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art of record fails to teach a portable card adapted to be used in a card processing system having a data processing station comprising: a data storage device adapted to interact with the data processing station when the portable card and the data processing station are moved relative to each other, said data storage device including a substrate having a generally rectangular shape; a hard disk drive recording medium including at least one layer of high density, high coercivity magnetic material including a plurality of magnetic domains for storing magnetic signals, said plurality of magnetic domains having an areal density of between 2 megabits per sq. in. to about i0 gigabits per sq. in. and having a storage capability of more than 500 megabytes; a relatively hard, abradeable protective coating formed on said magnetic material layer and being selected to have a thickness between a maximum thickness which would materially attenuate magnetic signals passing between said magnetic material layer and a transducer and a minimum thickness enabling said protective coating to be abraded by usage in an ambient natural atmosphere operating environment for removing therefrom a known quantity of the protective coating, wherein the protective coating has at least one layer which includes a magnetically permeable, magnetically saturable material, and a protective housing having at least one housing section that is movable relative to the data storage device such that data storage device is shielded by said at least one housing section when said at least one housing section is in a first position, and said data storage device is operably exposed for interaction with the data processing station when said at least one housing section is in a second position (re claim 1) and a portable card adapted to be used in a card processing system having a data processing station comprising: a data storage device adapted to interact with the data processing station when the portable card and the data processing station are moved relative to each other, said data storage device including a substrate having a generally rectangular shape and a pair of longer sides which are longer than a pair of shorter sides shape; a hard disk drive storage medium including at least one layer of high density, high coercivity magnetic material including a plurality of magnetic domains for storing magnetic signals, said magnetic material having an areal density of about i0 gigabits per sq. in and having a storage capability in the range of 1 megabyte and 500 megabytes; and a diamond-like hardness, abradeable protective coating formed on said magnetic material layer and being selected to have a thickness between a maximum thickness which would materially attenuate magnetic signals passing between said magnetic material layer and a transducer and a minimum thickness enabling said protective coating to be abraded by usage in an ambient natural atmosphere operating environment for removing therefrom a known quantity of the protective coating, wherein protective coating has at least one layer which includes a magnetically permeable, magnetically saturable material; and a protective housing having at least one housing section that is movable relative to the data storage device such that data storage device is shielded by said at least one housing section when said at least one housing section is in a first position, and said data storage device is operably exposed for interaction with the data processing station when said at least one housing section is in a second position (re claim 10).

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
